

Cynthia Bright

Vice President and Associate General Counsel for U.S. Litigation and Government Investigations, HP Inc.

Cynthia Bright is VP and Associate General Counsel for U.S. Litigation & Government Investigations. She leads a team of attorneys who manage all of the company's domestic litigation and government investigations.

Bright joined HP in 2009 as an IP Litigation Manager. She was asked to lead the IP Litigation team in April 2012. In 2015, the IP Litigation team was selected as one of six teams to receive HP's President's Quality Award. In 2015 and 2013, The Recorder named her as one of the top 50 women lawyers in tech.

Before joining HP, Bright was the Director of Litigation for Atmel Corporation, a semiconductor company based in San Jose, California. Prior to joining Atmel, Bright was in private practice at Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati.

Bright graduated from the Georgetown Law Center, and also received her undergraduate degree from Georgetown University.

LEADERSHIP COUNCIL
ON LEGAL DIVERSITY