

Adam Telem

NAM Prepaid and Inclusive Futures Lead, Mastercard

Adam Telem is the NAM Prepaid and Inclusive Futures lead at Mastercard, overseeing product development and product management of card products and related value-added services. Adam started at Mastercard in 2014 as the global consumer products lawyer, providing end to end legal support for Mastercard's credit, debit/ATM, and prepaid business, from initial visioning through product launch. Earlier this year he transitioned into the business, as the Vice President of Product Development, Global Prepaid, where he led go-to-market strategy for new products and services.

Prior to joining Mastercard, Adam held varying legal positions in both the private and public sector, specializing in technology, at Chubb (formerly ACE Group), American Express, and the City of Philadelphia.

Adam received his J.D. from Villanova University School of Law in 2006. Prior to that, Adam graduated from Emory University in 2003 with a major in political science and a minor in Italian studies.
