

Rebeca Maria Ojeda

Associate, King & Spalding, LLP; 2018 Pathfinder

Rebeca Ojeda is an Associate at King & Spalding, LLP. Her practice consists of representing clients in the tobacco and pharmaceutical industry in product liability litigation – from the discovery stage through trial. Ojeda contributes to her practice group by volunteering for research into new focus areas such as marijuana legalization and accompanying liabilities, as well as contributing to the product liability field in general through targeted publications and CLE presentations.

Ojeda received her law degree from the University of Texas School of Law in Austin, Texas, and her undergraduate degree from Vanderbilt University. Ojeda serves as Legal Food Frenzy Task Force Member at the Atlanta Community Food Bank, is Vice President of the Georgia Hispanic Bar Association, and Co-Chair of the Latino Affinity Group at King & Spalding, LLP.
