OPTION A COLUMBIA D

Positioning Yourself to Level Up

Kori Karew, Founder and Chief Catalyst Officer, Bridge 68

In our professional trajectory, we find the leadership skills that got us where we are is not what we need to move to the next level. Executive presence, the ability to manage up and influence without authority, build trust, connection, and networks across all kinds of diversity, is critical. What does it look like to lead high performing teams where we are responsive to the needs of our direct reports while also meeting organizational priorities to position yourself for the next level of success? The session will cover:

- The significance of trust and how it is shaped by communication
- Knowing yourself to lead yourself and understanding how you show up
- The impact of cultural fluency or effective communication, relationship building, emotional intelligence and trust
- The importance of authenticity and well-being to career advancement
- Networks and branding

OPTION B COLUMBIA A

Intentional and Authentic Approaches to Maintaining and Growing Your Network

Jason Levin, Founder, Ready Set Launch

Are you tired of inauthentic approaches to building your network? Do you even cringe at the thought of “networking”? Join this interactive presentation from Jason Levin, author of Relationships to Infinity: The Art and Science of Keeping in Touch. During this session, Jason will share some of the social science he uncovered in researching his book, along with strategies for creating, maintaining, or rekindling authentic connections. Additionally, Jason will cover how to be more comfortable in a networking event.

Innovative Alumni Initiatives: From Idea to Reality
COLUMBIA A

Welcome from Richik Sarkar, LCLD Alumni Chair Elect. Panelists: Sushant Mohan, Member of the Pathways to Equity Program; Christophe Mosby, Co-Chair of the Sustainable Partnership Program; and Randy Lehner, Chair of the GC Mentoring Program.

This session is all about alumni initiatives and how you can get involved with the LCLD Alumni community. We'll explore three programs and how you can be involved in their efforts: Pathways to Equity, Sustainable Partnership Program, and GC Mentoring. You'll hear from alumni who have taken the lead in creating successful initiatives, and you'll have the chance to ask questions and learn more about these programs.
