JEFFREY P. GRAY is Managing Partner of Davis Wright Tremaine LLP (DWT). Prior to becoming Managing Partner, he practiced in the firm's energy group, advising independent power producers, transmission system operators, and competitive utility service providers on regulatory matters related to power procurement, renewable energy, climate change, and transmission-related issues.

Gray has served as DWT's Managing Partner since January 2015. As Managing Partner, he focuses on the firm's structure and strategic direction, and is committed to ensuring that DWT continues to be a place where talented professionals of all backgrounds are able to flourish and succeed. In addition to serving as Managing Partner, Gray sits on the firm's Executive Committee and Diversity & Inclusion Committee. He also previously served as the partner-in-charge of the firm's San Francisco office.

Gray is a native of the San Francisco Bay Area and currently serves on the Council of the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco. He earned his J.D. from the University of San Francisco School of Law and his B.A. from California Polytechnic State University, where he played point guard on the basketball team. He is admitted to practice in California and Washington, D.C.

SALLE YOO is the General Counsel of Uber Technologies, Inc. In her role, she ensures that Uber can rapidly expand its global presence and sustain long-term growth in existing markets. She and her team oversee an increasingly complex set of legal and regulatory matters, as Uber continues to attract hundreds of thousands of driver partners and riders globally.

Prior to joining Uber in 2012, Yoo was a litigation partner at Davis Wright Tremaine LLP, where she represented energy, telecommunications, and technology firms. When she left to join Uber, it was because of her excitement about its potential to change the way millions of people move around cities.

Yoo serves on the Museum Council for the Asian Art Museum and is a member of the Council of Korean Americans. In 2015, Yoo was named one of San Francisco Business Times' Most Influential Women in Bay Area Business. She previously served as secretary, director, and chair of the Judiciary Committee for the Asian-American Bar Association of the Greater Bay Area. She graduated from Scripps College and Boston University School of Law.
