DIEGO CARVAJAL

DEI Educator and Consultant, VallotKarp Consulting

DIEGO CARVAJAL is a Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (“DEI”) Educator and Consultant with VallotKarp Consulting. He works with global corporations, law firms, and museums in developing multi-year strategic DEI plans, global culture assessments, and educational seminars focused on anti-racism and unconscious bias. His clients include NBC Universal, MGM Studios, Paramount Global, Sidley Austin LLP, Sullivan & Cromwell LLP and Bacardi Limited.

He began his career working as an associate for Cadwalader Wickersham and Taft and then as a senior associate with Hogan Lovells, where he represented sovereign countries and financial institutions on a broad range of international finance transactions in the U.S., Europe, Latin America, Asia, and the Middle East. He also worked as associate general counsel of Sterling National Bank.

Diego holds a J.D. from Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law and a B.A. from New York University. He serves on the Lideres board of LatinoJustice and on the board of directors of The Metropolitan Playhouse, an off-Broadway theater in New York.
